

ENRICO BORGARELLO

Enrico Borgarello graduated in Chemistry at the University of Torino.

From 1980 up to 1986 he was Research Associate in EPFL (Ecole Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne) and University of Montreal working on the application of photocatalysis to the production of hydrogen from water and to the degradation of pollutants in water.

During his 19-years career in Eni, he was also appointed Senior Scientist.

Since 2005 he covers the position of Director of Research & Development and Laboratories in the Italcementi Group

Technical Center (CTG). In January 2010 Enrico Borgarello was appointed as Director of the newly formed Innovation Department.

