

Marco Imperadori

University professor at Politecnico di Milano, holder of the chair of Design and Technology Innovation at the Faculty of Building Engineering-Architecture.

He is Delegate of the Rector of the Politecnico for Far. Researcher, he has published books and articles in trade magazines in Italy and abroad, where he is invited for seminars and conferences on issues of sustainability and energy saving. He represents the Politecnico di Milano in the European research networks Active House Alliance and Android.

Since 1999 he is holder of the architecture office Atelier2 (Valentina Gallotti and Marco Imperadori Associates) in Milan. The results of experimental research are constantly reviewed and applied in design practice, which has earned several awards and mentions, both national and international.